THE JURY IS UPHELD.

Its Report Generally Commended in New Orleans

HOW IT IS VIEWED AT WASHINGTON.

The Failure to Indict the Leaders of the Mob May Bring About Further Complications—Rudini Was Too Hasty.

THE ITALIAN IMBROGLIO.

NEW ORLEANS, May 7.—The report of the grand jury, exonerating the Mafia lynchers, while just what was expected, is the subject of much comment.
Citizens generally commend the action of the jury and indulge in considerable self-justification over the exhaustive manner in which the subject is treated. The consensus of opinion is that the Italian government has little left to complain of the report showing that only two of the prisoners killed were subjects of Italy.

Sig. Corte, the Italian consul, is however, not enthusiastic over the document. He says that he is very much displeased with the report. He further much information from the jury, he declares, which was ignored, as there is nothing in the report to indicate that it was used. Mr. Corte adds that his oath of secrecy prevents him from telling what he testified to before the grand jury. The consul says that he will immediately transmit the report in full to his home government, and he fears that serious complications between Italy and the United States will be the ultimate result.

Detective O'Malley has made a long statement about the Italian troubles.
He says his success as a detective caused the city detectives and private detectives to be jealous of him long ago.
They were so bitter against him that when Hennessy was trying the case of the men who ambushed the Matrangos on May 6 and found that O'Malley was on the same case, Hennessy dropped the matter and the Pro-venzano was convicted on evidence found by O'Malley. Then Hennessy secured a new trial and got the Provenzano acquitted. After Hennessy was assassinated the men arrested were those who had been on the case of the Provenzano. O'Malley first offered his services to the city, but they were rejected, and then the Matranogos wanted to engage him. He at first refused to take their case, but having received a letter from the "committee of fifty" demanding that he keep the case of the case, he became angry and took the Matranogos' side of the case and became satisfied of their innocence.
O'Malley gives a long review of the evidence and says the prosecution was a barefaced conspiracy and a disgrace to civilization. He gives many instances of the way he has been treated and still is watched and persecuted.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Secretary Blaine is absent in New York, attending the Danvers concert, and there is no one at the state department who is authorized to give an opinion concerning the finding of the New Orleans grand jury. The official report is not expected to reach Washington for several days, and when it does will probably come in different form.
It will be accompanied by a report of Gov. Nichols and will embody his own comment and suggestion as to the final action of the state authorities.
It will be that the question will have resolved itself into one of international litigation. In view of the fact that Secretary Blaine has already held that the federal government cannot interfere to punish the rioters, the prospect for securing indemnity through the doubtful process of legislation is not good. It looks as if the Italian premier might take the final decisive step, abolish the legation here and refuse to longer entertain our diplomat at Rome.

The attempt to palliate the infraction of law by offsetting the alleged attempts at jury-fixing is deprecated by the legal minds of the department, but there is a well-defined opinion that on the whole the outcome of the case will be beneficial to the United States, as the bulent foreign elements in the United States, inasmuch as it will make clear to them the fact that they cannot rely upon treaties to escape responsibility to the great public for their unlawful acts.

Had Marquis Rudini waited and been less insolent in his tone he might have made out a case based on the finding of the grand jury that would have been embarrassing to the administration.
His attempt to make political capital at home has resulted in such a thorough drubbing at the hands of Secretary Blaine that nothing he may say based on the grand jury's defense of the lynching will now enable the Italian government to retrieve itself. In nothing Secretary Blaine has said has he shown any sympathy on the part of the federal government with Lynch law, and in the future correspondence it may be taken for granted that the grounds on which the grand jury justifies the killing of the Sicilians will not be put forth. In his dispatch to Gov. Nichols, of Louisiana, Secretary Blaine called the killing a "massacre" and there is no reason to believe he has changed his views. But this will not prevent him from setting forth in its strongest light the character of the men in whose behalf the Italian government has been making its ridiculous demands.

Chicago, May 7.—Judged by the temper of the Italian colony in Chicago, the Italian population of the United States are in no particularly amiable mood.
The report of the special grand jury at New Orleans, which in-dorses the lynching of the Mafia murderers, has fanned the smoldering fires of Italian hatred and is believed to open blaze, and many leading Italians, who are bitterly disappointed at the outcome of the grand jury's deliberations, are outspoken in their condemnation of its failure to indict the leaders of the New Orleans lynchers.

London, May 7.—The finding of the grand jury at New Orleans justifying the lynching of the Italian prisoners revives interest in the affair and is commented on by the press in a not unfavorable manner. The St. James Gazette says the grand jury has done pretty much what was expected. It fears Marquis di Rudini will not appreciate the political interest of the finding. The situation so far as Italy is concerned stands as at the beginning of the controversy.

RECIPROCITY WITH PERU.

Vice-President Solar Comes to the United States to Negotiate for Closer Trade Relations—Venezuela Ratifies the Agreement Made Between Minister Sotelo and Mr. Blaine.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Peru wants reciprocity with the United States.
The new minister, Mr. Solar, is now in New York, but will come to Washington to present his credentials soon after President Harrison returns. Though he comes as regularly accredited minister, it is understood that Mr. Solar is really on a special mission to negotiate a reciprocity arrangement with the United States. Since the funding of the national debt by the Grace syndicate Peru has been coming out of the anacardio crop of Chili. Its commerce is looking up and its future is once more hopeful. Closer trade relations with the United States are important to Peru.
It is the only South American country besides Brazil which produces sugar in large quantities. Its sugar plantations were destroyed in the war with Chili, but they are open to great development. So it is important to Peru that it insure a lasting free market for its sugar. The country was soon destroyed, and the flames spread to the Boroughs lumber yard. The fire soon crossed to the hay and feed sheds of Clark & Sampson, the Whiting Lumber Company, on Newton creek, Hummel's stone yards and Toms, Sims & Co. The fire burned with almost incredible force, amid the masses of lumber and other inflammable material, and step by step the firemen were driven back.
Next the vessels moored to the docks on Newton creek were threatened. The flames had by this time spread to the lumber yards of McClave & Co., adjoining the Long Island railroad depot, and the yard of Macintosh, across Vernon avenue, near the Green Point bridge. The Clark & Simpson feed mills were burned and H. S. Whiting's retail lumber yard was entirely consumed. H. S. Burroughs' wholesale lumber yard in Newtown creek, adjoining the export yard, was soon a mass of flames. The Simon Lumber Company's mill followed and was soon a total loss. All the Standard Oil Company's fire traps and the entire Long Island city fire department, under Chief Casey, were on the scene and did good work. Mayor Gleason and the fire commissioners and personal charges and directed the movements of the firemen. The lumber yard of E. L. McClave, next to the depot, caught fire and was entirely consumed. So intense was the heat from the enormous piles of burning lumber that the firemen were unable to get near enough to bring a stream to bear.
Several of the firemen were terribly burned and one man was driven into Newton creek, all other means of escape being cut off, and drowned. At an early hour this morning the flames were under control and the entire lumber district of seven acres, or thirteen city blocks, which was almost entirely covered with lumber piles. The loss will reach $1,000,000. Thousands of persons viewed the scene from either side of the creek, watching anxiously the progress of the fire, which a heavy wind materially aided.

Peru took from the United States last year imports to the amount of nearly $1,500,000. These included readstuffs, cotton manufactures, manufactures of iron and steel, petroleum, lumber and provisions. Nearly all these articles are dutiable. There is a special demand at present for American lead, and this will undoubtedly be included in the concessions. Vexatious fees in regard to the certification of invoices will also probably be modified as was done by the Brazilian government in its reciprocity arrangement. Though the syndicate which funded the Peru national debt was made up mostly of Englishmen, a good deal of the material and machinery it is using in building railroads was shipped by the United States.
This machinery and material goes to free in pursuance of the agreement made with the syndicate.

A reciprocity arrangement between Peru and the United States will be likely to give the same privileges to all citizens of the United States who are developing the mining and other industries of that country. Minister Solar is a good deal of a man in his own country, and is something of an officeholder. Besides his present office, that of minister to the United States and to Spain, he is also vice president of the Peruvian association.

Venezuela reciprocity seems to be close at hand, though President Harrison's proclamation cannot be issued until the official notice comes through the regular diplomatic channels.
Ex-Minister Sotelo has received the advice that the government of Venezuela April 23 formerly ratified the reciprocity agreement with the United States.
This places Venezuela with Brazil in its new commercial relations with the United States. The reciprocity agreement assumes to the United States is shown by the fact that our imports from Venezuela during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1890, amounted in round figures to $11,000,000, of which $9,000,000 was in coffee. Our exports to Venezuela amounted during the same period to only about $4,000,000, leaving a balance of trade against the United States of $7,000,000. With the establishment of frequent steamship communication through the postal-sail bill the United States will be enabled to reduce its duty free this great difference may be rectified and the wealth of the United States increased by that much.

St. Louis to Have Another Bridge.

St. Louis, May 7.—An important deal has just been closed, which guarantees to St. Louis the building of a third bridge across the Mississippi river. The new bridge will be built at a point about miles south of the Eads bridge. The franchise, which is perpetual, was granted twenty years ago and has lately been purchased by syndicate represented by Mr. John B. Clements, formerly chief engineer of the Missouri Pacific Railway Company system. The capital stock will be increased to $1,000,000 and work on the new bridge will be promptly begun.

Jacques, an American gentleman from Newton, Mass., was out driving with his daughter when a mob of people pursued his carriage, attacked it, pelted it with stones and severely injured his daughter, who interfered in his defense.
A Reminder.

said. "Instead of 'Nine tailors make a man' I think it ought to be: 'One tailor ing the bird of fortune it should be the

"Your logic is so convincing," he answered, "I'll never see a goose again

SEWERS BADLY NEEDED.

The effort to secure better drainage cannot be pushed too vigorously. It is a short time since Janesville was afflicted with malarial diseases in a form almost epidemic. Many who were ill traced their trouble directly to foul water or to noxious vapors from cess pools. The city's statement of the condition of Janesville wells and cesspools, gave force to the demand for a sewerage system at that time, and it should be remembered that as hot weather comes on matters will be worse not better. The council will be heartily supported in its effort to bring the sanitary condition of the city to a higher standard.

Minnesota is determined that none of her citizens shall be deceived in the matter of "hog butter." Chapter 11 of the new state laws makes it a misdemeanor to sell oleomargarine unless it is colored a bright pink, and Chapter 12 imposes heavy penalties on anybody who sells anything which looks like lard but is not really made from hog fat, unless he gives his customers the fullest facilities for learning what it is made of, and also makes it the duty of any one who runs a hotel or a restaurant and uses lard made out of anything but hog fat to keep posted on the wall a legend to that effect, so that everybody who eats may know what he is eating.

All this winter the farmer has been reading in democratic papers about the hard times the McKinley law would bring. Now they come to town, sell wheat at $1.00, corn at 70 cents, potatoes at $1.20, oats at 60 cents, and a few other farm products at proportionately high prices and buy necessities at a lower price than they have ever been sold in his life time. Then the farmer laughs and the opinion of the democratic prophet is not a flattering one.

Does the Recorder picture the $200,000 bonded indebtedness of Rockford to make a point against building a bridge in Janesville or against putting down block pavement at the east end of Milwaukee street bridge? The picture is very badly drawn, and people are anxious to know which side of the fence the paper is on.

Justices Bradley and Field are the only members of the United States supreme court who have been such more than fifteen years. The latter, it is thought, will hardly resign during a republican administration, lest the political complexion of the court be changed. Judge Field is a democrat.

Outlook Northwestern—The democratic attention has been diverted from defending the gerrymander to an abuse of A. J. Turner for threatening to test its constitutionality. Worrimons never cease in this world.

It has been decided by an Ohio court that a man cannot get a divorce because his wife smokes cigars. The opinion does not cover cigarettes.

A very successful tableau entertainment was recently given in New York, the subjects being taken from illustrations in the current magazines. The idea is a simple one, and if the subjects are well chosen it can be made very interesting.

Buffalo Tidings states that Murvale Eastman, the hero of Tourge's new novel, is modeled upon a young Episcopal minister of that city, the Rev. Henry A. Adams. Judge Tourge says that from what he has heard that might be true, but he does not personally know the gentleman he did not have him in mind. It is refreshing, however, to know that such many characters do exist, the more of them the better.

There is in New York a unique literary organization known as the New York Story club. It is made up of the lovers and tellers of good stories who have gathered a great number of romances from many lands—stories of adventure and love legends, tales of war and tales of peace, legends and true stories, mountain adventures and sea tales, stories of heroes and stories of the avenger of the supernatural and of the subhuman—the aim being to get together the very best and most thrilling stories of all nations and all times, and to tell them in an interesting and entertaining way.

SOME WELL KNOWN FACES.

An Ex-Governor.

HON. GEORGE HOADLEY.

George Hoadley, governor of Ohio in 1845, was born July 31, 1836, in New Haven. His father was mayor of that city and his grandfather, a revolutionary soldier, was twenty-six times elected to the Connecticut legislature. George was graduated from Western Reserve (O) college in 1854, in 1859 became a law partner of Salmon P. Chase and later served as judge in various courts. In October, 1883, he defeated Joseph B. Foraker for governor of Ohio, and in 1885 was defeated by that gentleman. In 1887 he removed to New York city, where he engaged in law practice.

WHEAT NOT HURT.

Fears of Damage to the Crop by Frost Dismissed.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 7.—A great deal of apprehension is felt as to the results of the sharp frost of Tuesday night on the growing crops. Reports are coming very slowly from northwestern points, so slowly that the elevator men here report it is a favorable fact would have been hastily announced. The greatest fear was felt for the park region of Minnesota, stretching from St. Cloud to the Red river valley, but reports from Detroit and Park Rapids say the growing wheat never looked better. Grand Forks, Casselton, Jamestown and Devils Lake report no damage to wheat, and the belief is general that an escape has been made in the finest wheat country included in the frost line. The blade was not sufficiently advanced to be harmed, and will be benefited rather than otherwise. Through southern Minnesota and South Dakota the frost was too light to injure anything but flax, which must be replanted in several localities. The greatest danger to the wheat crop at present is from drought. The steady winds of the past few days have dried the upper soil, where the wheat lies yet but light root. Another week without rain will cause considerable anxiety, but rain within that time will place the crop in security for the present, with every prospect of an extraordinary yield.

MILWAUKEE, May 7.—Reports from the state regarding the heavy frosts are meager, but all agree that general damage was done only to garden truck. Fruits were not sufficiently advanced to be affected, and there is no other crop in the state at this season which could be injured.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 7.—A heavy frost occurred in this region Tuesday night, nipping berry blooms and early vegetables, but it is too early to correctly estimate the damage. The quantity of berries is reduced about a third. Damage to peaches and other fruits is unknown.

MONTICELLO, Ill., May 7.—There was a blighting frost in Piatt county and throughout central Illinois, killing fruit at a fearful rate and greatly injuring the gardens. Ice froze one-inch thick in places. The peach crop is greatly injured.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., May 7.—A heavy frost here Tuesday night. Grapes are badly injured, potatoes cut nearly to the ground and early beans destroyed. The prospect for a good wheat crop in Scott county was never better than at present. The weather has been good for farm work, and many farmers are nearly done planting corn. The average yield is 10 per cent more than last year.

COLUMBUS, O., May 7.—No serious results to fruit prospects as to the immediate vicinity of Columbus are reported. A Lima (O) dispatch says it is thought early fruit are greatly damaged, if not killed. At Washington Court House Tuesday night ice an eighth of an inch thick was formed. A prominent fruit grower says that the early cherries are all killed and that peaches, pears, apples and other fruits are being greatly damaged, and one or two more frosts like that of last night will settle the fruit crop throughout that part of Ohio at least.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 7.—An exceedingly low temperature prevailed Tuesday night. The strawberry crop is practically ruined and cherries, grapes and peaches suffered considerably, but the crops will not be a total failure. The extreme dryness of the season only saved the crop from complete blight. Neither wheat, oats nor corn has been planted long enough to be affected, except that the cold weather prevents it from sprouting.

COLUMBUS, Ind., May 7.—Reports from Clark county say that the heavy frost Tuesday night destroyed the garden truck and cherry crop. Peaches and apples are all right.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 7.—A frost fell in this vicinity Tuesday night. The damage can hardly be estimated at this time. In some particular localities it was heavier than others. The fruit trees will be the main sufferers, and of these peaches especially. The buds have been nipped and it is thought the crop will be greatly curtailed. The frost was not of sufficient weight to totally destroy the fruit. Farmers report that such vegetables as beans, tomatoes and potatoes have been greatly injured.

FRANKFORT, Ky., May 7.—The gardens were seriously injured Tuesday night by the frost. Peaches and grapes were also damaged. There was some damage to wheat and corn. Ice was very common in many places. The full extent of the damage cannot be estimated as yet, but it is serious.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 7.—Frosts have been prevalent in Iowa for several nights, but Tuesday night the freeze was hardest and ice formed in many localities. Farmers in that country say that the chief injury has been done to small fruit of the earlier varieties, such as cherries and plums. In southern Iowa, where vegetation is further advanced, considerable injury has been inflicted on the apple crop. The growing grain has not been affected.

LEWES, Del., May 7.—The frost of Tuesday night in this vicinity was very severe on fruits and vegetables. Early strawberries are probably killed. Apples, pears, cherries and plums are supposed to be badly damaged, and the few peaches still remaining are doubtless injured. Early potatoes, beans and some other vegetables are much cut.

IN ASHES.

The County Infirmary Near Muncie, Ind., Burned—Narrow Escape of Inmates.

MUNCIE, Ind., May 7.—The large county infirmary building 4 miles east of Muncie caught fire Wednesday morning under the second floor. In a short time the whole building, with twenty-two rooms, was enveloped in flames. The forty inmates, many wholly helpless, seemed doomed. Mr. Charles Smith, of Selma, with a half dozen other men, lost no time in rescuing the unfortunate, but in their efforts they were badly burned. The report that four lives had been lost proved to be unfounded. One old man after being carried out dashed into the burning building and could not be rescued until placed in a barrel. Superintendent Watson's son, who was in bed sick with a fever, and one of the inmates will likely die from exposure. The loss is about $10,000, with $5,000 insurance. Bad regulation of natural gas caused the fire.

STOPPING ELECTRIC CARS.

Results of Some Experiments on Boston's Principal Line.

Some experiments that have been made to determine the distances required to stop an electric car under ordinary circumstances, from various speeds, have furnished interesting results as to the brake power of street cars, as appears by the annual report of the railroad commissioners. In making the experiments the following conditions were observed: A man with a number of surveying pins was stationed on the step of the rear platform; two observers with stop watches stood upon the platform; a fourth gave the signal for the driver to stop. With the car running at a uniform speed, it was necessary to determine—first, the rate of speed, and second, the distance required to make a stop.

At a given signal the first stop watch was started and a pin was dropped upon the ground. At the expiration of ten seconds the observer with his stop watch gave another signal and stopped his watch. When this signal was given a second pin was dropped on the ground, the second stop watch was started and the signal given for the driver to stop. With the car running at a uniform speed, it was necessary to determine—first, the rate of speed, and second, the distance required to make a stop.

On a subsequent occasion the speed was obtained by measuring the time necessary to pass over the distance between given streets. This method of observation was easy to carry out, but was, of course, not precise, and the given length of stop was slightly greater than the distances passed over from the time the brakes were actually applied to the wheels, owing to the fact that a fraction of a second was probably lost in giving the signals.

A great variation was shown between the different stops made. "Supposing," say the experts, "the friction to be the same, the length of stop should be as the square of the velocity. Really the friction is less the greater the velocity, so that the length of stop should be somewhat greater than in proportion to the square of the velocity. This was shown in a stop in thirty-six feet at 6.3 miles per hour, and in a stop in forty-eight feet at 12.3 miles per hour in a stop of 144 feet, as it would be according to the square of the velocity; or if the stop in forty-eight feet be taken as a basis of comparison the stop from six miles an hour should have been made in twelve feet. The grades in these cases were not greatly different. Again, comparing two experiments in which the speed was nearly the same, the stop on the down grade was much better than on the up grade. Other discrepancies of a similar character were noticed."—Boston Transcript.

Heroic Annie Bender.

Annie Bender, the eighteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Margaret Bender, of St. Clair street, died an act Wednesday afternoon that was worthy of a strong and courageous man, and may thereby have saved two lives.

Some time Wednesday afternoon flames were noticed on the roof of Claus Steffens' house. Neighbors rushed lastly over to alarm box 248, but the department was hindered by the awful roar from reaching the house promptly.

In a bed on the second floor of the house, directly under the blazing roof, lay Mrs. Steffens and her two-day-old infant. Several women rushed up stairs to carry Mrs. Steffens and her baby out, but a physician, who had just arrived, forbade it. He said the fire was not spreading rapidly, and the fire department would probably reach the house in a moment and the minutes went rapidly by and the engine did not come.

Then Miss Bender resolved to act. She placed a ladder against the eaves, seized an ax and climbed to the roof. With a score of blows she chopped away the shingles from around the flames, which had then spread but a few inches from the chimney. She worked with all her might and main and soon had all the inflammable material cut away.

While she was thus engaged two other young women stood by Mrs. Steffens' bedside, and determined to remain there until it became evident that the house would burn, when they would carry her down stairs.

Just as Miss Bender finished her work and took the ladder company 6, from the new fire station on Windsor avenue, came, the wheels covered with mud and the horses foaming and perspiring from their hard pull through the horrible streets. A few minutes' work with the extinguishers put out the fire with no very great loss.

Miss Bender's brave act no doubt prevented a serious destruction of property, if not indeed, the loss of the two helpless lives just beneath the roof.—Cleveland World.

Achilles and the Tortoise.

A paradox which has been inherited from the Greeks—that of Achilles and the tortoise—is familiar.

Achilles (the swift footed) allows the tortoise a hundred yards start, and runs ten yards while the tortoise runs one. Now, when Achilles has run ten hundred yards the tortoise has run ten yards, and is therefore still that distance ahead. When Achilles has run these ten yards the tortoise has run one yard. When Achilles has run the one yard the tortoise has run one-tenth of a yard. And when Achilles has run the one-tenth of a yard the tortoise has run one-hundredth. It is only necessary to continue the same process of reasoning to prove that Achilles can never overtake the tortoise.

Of course it is a fact that Achilles does overtake the tortoise, notwithstanding this apparently logical reasoning to the contrary.—New York Tribune.

SEIZED A WARSHIP.

The Neutrality Laws to Be Strictly Enforced by Uncle Sam During Chile's Civil War.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 7.—Tuesday night United States Marshal Gard seized the Chilean steamer Etata, which was taking on provisions here to be transferred to the insurgent warships Robert and Minnie. Capt. Manzueto was placed under arrest. He was afterwards permitted to return to his vessel under guard.

The action of the United States marshal at San Diego, Cal., in seizing the Etata is the result of telegraphic correspondence between the president, Secretary Blaine and Attorney General Miller. The latter has been authorized by the president to take whatever steps he deems necessary to enforce strict compliance with the laws of neutrality in the case of Chile and to seize all vessels found offending in that respect within the jurisdiction of the United States.

Marshal Gard, who returned from a trip to a tug beyond the Heads Wednesday morning, discovered the mysterious schooner which had been lying off the harbor was the Robert and Minnie of San Francisco, which was supposed to have on board arms and ammunition for the Chilean insurgents. Marshal Gard went to the telegraph office upon his return here and filed a dispatch detailing the result of his investigations. It is supposed he received further instructions in reply, as in the afternoon he chartered the tug again, and this time took aboard with him a company of United States soldiers from the barracks here in addition to his deputies and started for the open sea with the schooner and its cargo of rifles and cartridges and bringing it into port, no matter whether it be overhauls within the limit of three miles or not.

ILLINOIS.

Proceedings in Both Branches of the State Legislature.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 7.—In the senate the mutual savings bank bill was ordered to a third reading. There was objection to concerning in the house joint resolution for a commission system of transferring lands by title and it was sent to the committee on judiciary. Senator Noonan introduced a bill increasing the pay of judges and clerks of election and ticket peddlers in Chicago to five dollars a day. It was read a first time and ordered to a second reading without reference. Senator Lehman's bill revising the general banking law was amended and ordered to a third reading. It must be submitted to a vote of the people before it becomes a law.

After a heated discussion, characterized by more or less religious prejudice, the house killed the Paddock bill enjoining churches to hold real estate, realty and donations. The bill for an act for the protection and punishment of depraved females was passed. Bills were also passed providing for an act to indemnify the owners of sheep in case of damage committed by dogs.

MICHIGAN.

The State Senate Rejects a Prohibition Measure.

LANSING, Mich., May 7.—Senator Brown's local option bill was killed by the senate Wednesday. The bill practically established prohibition by requiring that no liquor should be sold in any county unless the people voted in favor of saloons at a special election. The bill appropriating $20,000 to the G. A. R. encampment in Detroit met defeat in the house. The bill received 27 votes to 23 against it. Under the constitution governing appropriations of public money for private purposes it was necessary that the bill should have received 67 votes. The vote by which it was lost was reconsidered and another effort will be made to pass it. The house in committee of the whole passed the bill increasing the specific tax on railroads from 2 to 3 per cent. of the gross earnings. The bill, if it becomes a law, will place $300,000 additional in the state treasury annually. The senate passed a bill to protect hotel-keepers by allowing them to sell the baggage of guests who vanish without paying their bills.

HOSMER ON THE RIVER

The Champion Takes a Turn on the Rock.

IS TRAINING FOR RACES.

Whenever Possible He Handles the Oar, and Will Begin Active Practice as Soon as the Dramatic Season Closes—His Views on Sculling.

"Yes, Mr. Zimmerman and myself are both knights of the tank," said George H. Hosmer to-day. "Not reformed tankers, either. Mine, however, is a water tank and Mr. Zimmerman's is a well, another tank."

Mr. Zimmerman is the manager of "A Dark Secret," which is at the Myers. Hosmer appears in the river scene, and gives a real exhibition of an exciting scull race. Although now on the river, he still has a passion for a larger vessel of water than a large tank, and this afternoon he determined on having a spin on the river. A search of the city developed the fact that no racing shell was to be had. But Hosmer was bound to row.

"The river is too pretty and the stretch above the dam looks too inviting," he declared. "Get me a lap-stroke boat. I want a little exercise."

A boat was procured and the wish of the oarsman was gratified. His coat slipped off, revealing a jersey rowing shirt, and with a smile on his face he pushed out from the shore. Grasping the oars with arms straightened, he dipped the blades and the boat sprang forward. Then the oars with pendulous drops glistening from the edges skimmed back over the water as the oarsman "feathered" and leaned forward for another stroke.

His stroke was a study, although he had no sliding seat or other conveniences such as a professional oarsman is bred to. Leaning forward with feet firmly braced and knees together, Hosmer dropped the blade of the oar until they were barely covered. His back straightened and two lumps that looked like boxing gloves rose just below his shoulders. When nearly to the end of the stroke a powerful contraction drew his arms to his sides and sent the boat forward with a rush.

"I row a slower stroke than a good many professionals," he said. "In matches I stick to about thirty-two strokes a minute. When you put in a full stroke with arms and feet, oars every two seconds, and don't slight any of them it is as fast as any man ought to go. I'm just getting in shape for the regatta season now. The company disbands in two weeks, and I will go east at once. I have gentlemen who will back me and I'm going to issue a challenge to any man in the river to row me at my own weight, or rather any 150 pound man, although I row under that weight. I think that's right, don't you? Rowing has been done regardless of weight, but I think it is only proper that weight should be considered the same as in fighting. It is all a question of strength and endurance, and it isn't fair to suppose that a light man can be so powerful as a heavy man."

"It is a shame," remarked the oarsman, "that Janesville has no boat club. I have not seen in all my travels, a prettier stretch of water than from this city to the point of land there. What did you call it?"

"McKey's point."

"Well, from McKey's point to Janesville I should judge is nearly a mile. You say the river is free from stumps in this stretch. There is just as pretty a mile row there as I know of anywhere. What a nice after-supper row in the summer! You say that there are a number of good boats in the city; why don't they form a club? They tell me there are two or three summer resorts a little distance away, and a boat club is one thing that Janesville ought to have to help enjoy them. There is nothing like a shell for rowing, though. If you want to enjoy good health, have good strong arms, shoulders and legs, row. You cannot row too much. It is the most health-giving exercise in the world. I have rowed ever since I was sixteen years old; I am now thirty-two, and I never had a sick day in my life."

"I am in love with Janesville and her river," said Hosmer as he brought the boat to the landing, "and I repeat what I said that if you do not organize a boat club this summer you have failed to do your full duty."

MILLS SAVED THOUSANDS.

Remarkable Success of the Great Revivalist at Cleveland, Ohio.

The latest news from the meetings which Mr. Mills has been conducting in Cleveland, Ohio, makes the work wrought there to seem one of the most wonderful revivals of modern times. Dr. George R. Leavitt writes that on one Sunday nearly a thousand persons entered the new life, and in four weeks of Mr. Mills' preaching, over six thousand cards were signed declaring a purpose to live for Christ. Now the cry is, "On to Mount Zion," where the greatest leader will conduct a final campaign in that city before coming to Janesville. Forty-five pastors, one hundred and fifty others, five hundred singers and thousands of Christian workers, many of them converted in the present revival, will be the human force behind the evangelists for the grand assault upon the city. It is confidently expected that thousands more will be saved within the next few days. What may Janesville hope in the coming of these men to us, if our churches are ready and in earnest for the work?

DID FOOT PADS HIT HIM?

Well Dressed Stranger Found Senseless on Main Street.

HE IS STILL UNCONSCIOUS.

His Clothing Indicates That He Is Well To Do, but Nothing Is Found To Give a Clue As to His Identity or the Cause of His Injuries.

A well dressed stranger was found unconscious by Night Officer McGinley near the Smith block last night. At 3 o'clock this afternoon the man was still unable to speak. Who he is and how he was hurt is an unsolved mystery. As soon as possible after finding him Officer McGinley took the stranger to the jail. Here Dr. J. B. Whitner, Jr., was called to attend to him.

Sheriff Hogan searched the man. He had on good clothes, and in his pocket was a memorandum book, indicating that he was, or had been, a stock buyer, yet the only mark of identification were the initials, "E. J. C." In his pocket book a gold chain was found, three dollars in money, and some cash in bills, and an old railroad ticket issued by the Rock Island & Pacific railway, from Dadd City to Chicago. He also had a watch and chain.

During the day he acted as if afflicted with a terrible pain in the head, holding one and at times both hands continually on the back of his head. He is a man probably thirty-five years old, dark hair, clean shaven face and a heavy sandy tinted mustache. He has the appearance of being American born.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon the fire patrol wagon was called and he was conveyed to the city hospital. When taken to the hospital he had a light fever, but was able to stand at the jail while he was being dressed.

At the hospital a more careful examination of his memorandum book disclosed that he had deposited various sums of money in different banks, he using only initial letters to designate the banks. A memorandum was also found which read—"Buy Mary a birthday present May 13."

HIS ARM BADLY TORN.

Andrew Bennett Disabled By a Wooden Mill Accident.

A pale faced young man with his left arm hanging helpless by his side, was assisted from Frank Hazleton's buggy and up the stairs to Dr. James Gibson's office this morning. He was Andrew Bennett and he was employed in the New McLean Woolen Mill at Monterey. Bennett was at work in the mill, and discovered a box or journal that required oiling, he reached around a belt that was passing over a loose pulley. The belt caught his arm and drew it into the pulley, tearing the flesh between the wrist and elbow. Just above the wrist joint was a deep cut larger than a silver dollar, and reaching to the bone. The bone was also cut by swiftly revolving pulley. A compress had been placed around the arm above the elbow that completely shut off the circulation. The arm and hand had turned black and the gaping wound and finger almost devoid of flesh, made the injury look much worse than it really was.

Dr. Gibson, assisted by Dr. J. B. Whitner, Jr., dressed the injured arm. Bennett was possessed of iron nerve, and never made a sound during the painful operation of sponging out the wound and sewing the lacerated flesh together. He was then taken to the home of his mother, Mrs. Patrick Bennett, on Palm street.

VANKIRK WINS THE SUIT.

The Supreme Court Affirms a Judgment in His Behalf.

The supreme court has affirmed the judgment in the case of W. T. Vankirk vs. the Citizens Insurance Company, of Pittsburg. Mr. Vankirk was the assignee of a policy on a building destroyed by fire. The company declined to pay the loss, for the reason that there was a mortgage on the property at the time the policy was written which the owner failed to disclose, and of which the company was ignorant. Mr. Vankirk commenced an action in the municipal court and recovered judgment for the full face of the policy. An appeal was taken to the circuit court where the judgment was affirmed by Judge Bennett, and, as before stated, the judgment was affirmed by the supreme court.

GOV. PECK IN THE CITY

He Says "Good Morning" and Then "Good Bye."

FEVER SCARE AT AFTON

School Closed Because of the Breaking Out of Disease—Petitioners Agent Not in the City—Cost Him Five Dollars to Call Names.

A thick-set man, of medium height, dressed in a black Prince Albert coat, wearing a pair of glasses with black rims and a snow white mustache and imperial, walked from one train to another at the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul depot this morning. The thick-set man was George W. Peck, governor of Wisconsin. He was on his way from Whitewater to Madison, and stopped long enough to not at all or two who knew him when he was ball boy in the old Hark House where the Army now stands.

Get Their Mail in Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Ziegler, daughter Jessie and son Charles, left for Minneapolis on the limited last evening, and will hereafter reside in that city, where Mr. Ziegler has charge of one of Brown, King & Company's branch stores.

Mr. and Mrs. Ziegler and family have made many friends in this city during their stay, who will be very sorry to have them go. Friends gave them quite an ovation at the depot last evening, and although the train pulled out and rudely put a stop to handshaking, several faint "good byes" doled back as the train left the depot.

Fever Scare at Afton.

Quite an excitement has been created by scarlet fever at Afton. A physician decided that Miss Lina Waite was coming down with that disease, and as a number of friends and play mates had been exposed, it is feared they may have taken the disease. Miss Lina Edgerton is sick, but the case has not progressed far enough to decide whether it is the fever or not. The school board has closed the school to prevent danger of spreading the disease among the pupils.

Will Buy the Fair Grounds.

Roy, Cyrus Miner went to Madison to-day to meet with the officers of the State Agricultural Society who are to take action in relation to the purchase of permanent fair grounds in Milwaukee, the late legislature having passed a law loaning the society $150,000, at 4 per cent interest for this purpose.

Cost $5 To Call Names.

It cost Robert Lowry something over five dollars to call W. E. Weaver names last week. The more Weaver thought of the matter he got, and finally had Lowry arrested. Lowry pleaded guilty, and Judge Patterson fined him five dollars and costs, which Lowry paid.

Demands Jury Trial.

R. D. Ottem, charged with selling liquor to minors, will be tried by a jury. He pleaded not guilty to the charge and his attorney called for a jury trial. A venire of jurors was called for at two o'clock this afternoon and the case is now before the court.

Repairs on the Car Line.

Superintendent Blank, of the street railway, is now relaying strings on the cemetery extension of the line. About six hundred feet of the timbers have so decayed that they are no longer serviceable. The track will be in order for use to the cemetery by Sunday.

Petition Agent Not Here.

The monthly meeting of the Light Infantry will be held this evening. Colonel Caldwell and other officers will probably inspect the company, but measurement for the new uniforms will not be taken. The Petition agent will probably be in the city next week.

This is Surely Summer.

J. A. Fathens, L. M. Nelson, W. J. Schofield and George Warren helped to organize Union Camp, No. 52, I. O. O. F., at Elkhorn last evening. Grand Sorbie L. D. Holmes, of Baraboo, acted as organizing officer.

CHEERED AT REAL WATER.

Ever stand up and wave your hat and hankie and yell as the patting champion glided in at the homestretch, with his opponent score half a bow length away?

You know how people follow the rowers with eager eyes and yell as their champion forces ahead.

That is the way it was at the Myers' last night.

When George Hammer's long lithe body shot by followed by his competitor, enthusiasm broke loose. There were cheers and yells on both sides of the foot-lights.

But the river scene is not all. To be sure, "A Dark Secret" is based upon the well worn bad-mans-trying-to-get-good-girls-movie plot. But there is some very fine acting in the play for all that. It is not a mere excuse to introduce the aquatic scene, although, of course, that is the climax.

James Norton, a wealthy man, dies, leaving a pretty daughter, Nellie, as his heiress.

She is not of age. Josie Norton, brother of James, is made the girl's guardian.

He schemes to get her money by inducing her to marry his son, a coarse cuckoo of a fellow, and failing in that he tries to put her out of the way, and is aided in this by Emily D'Este, a former governess in James Norton's family. The abduction leads up to the attempted murder on the Thames embankment, and once more brings in the water in all its effectiveness. The piece is staged with care and artistic appreciation and the leading parts are in capable hands. Hudson Liston as Stephen Norton drew upon himself the hisses of the gallery as every dyed-in-the-wool villain should. E. B. Tilton won praise as Martin Brooke, the athletic under-graduate, and Edith Fassetto Tilton, who made many friends in Janesville when she appeared with the Chicago Conservatory company, added fresh laurels by her rendition of the heroine part. The play will be presented again to-night and those who do not go will miss a noteworthy spectacle.

NEED TELEPHONES IN SCHOOL.

Commissioners Urging the Project of a City Circuit.

"I wish some arrangement could be made to connect our public school buildings by telephone," remarked Superintendent Conley. "People have little ideas of the many inconveniences we have to contend with for the want of the telephone connection. Hardly a day passes that a pupil is not sent with a message from one of the school buildings to the high school building. Some little matter comes up in the school which the teachers does not fully understand, and a pupil is taken out of study and sent over to my office. All this could be avoided with telephone connections. Then the telephone would be a convenience for many patrons of the school. I know the telephone is an expense that is hardly warranted, yet I believe arrangements could be made so that much of the expense would be overcome. Say connect the high school with the central telephone office. Then the city could purchase telephones of another pattern at a very reasonable price, and connect all the other buildings with the high school by independent lines. The poles are now up, and I understand the city has a right to use them. I think it is something for the public, especially the patrons of the school to consider, and I wish some one would take hold of the matter and crowd it through."

Many cities in Wisconsin have free telephones to the number of half a dozen or a dozen, as compensation for franchise grants. Janesville gets two telephones at half price in the fire stations. The franchise ought to be amended, and the city insist on as liberal concessions as have been granted to other cities.

Some years ago Commissioner Wilson thoroughly investigated this question with a view of placing telephones in the schools, and at one time the scheme came near being adopted. It failed only for the want of funds to appropriate for that purpose. The telephone has become a necessity in all business. It is, however, very expensive when conducted on the exchange system. The idea of Professor Conley, to purchase some one of the cheaper instruments for use in the ward buildings, running connecting wires direct to the office in the high school building, and then connect the high school with the central exchange, would overcome all the difficulties and meet the demands. This could be done with but little expense, and should be investigated by the authorities.

Perhaps it might be brought about by the common council impressing upon the Wisconsin Telephone Company the advisability of amending its franchise that the city could obtain the use of half a dozen phones without calling a special election to vote city bonds for that purpose.
